Product details

Safely create real fire

Why dont you stage a very realistic pan on fire to see whether your students can properly apply the studied theory in practice? With the low smoke flammable gel you can create fire in a quick and safe manner. Special about the gel is that the product can be used indoors because the flammable gel hardly produces any smoke. Furthermore there is hardly any black smut left after the incineration.

The fire from this gel becomes less hot than smoking pastes. As a result it is particularly suitable to be used on a fire manikin. The lower temperature extends the life span of the fire manikin. The gel is suitable for every non-flammable surface, such as the bonnet of a scrap car.

The flammable gel is comparable to hair gel with regard to structure and can therefore also be smeared on vertical or sloping surfaces. For example on a cooker hood in case of a fire in a kitchen.
